e will the money come from to meet the [illegible] ency which will surely come? There is [illegible] vision for it in the act that I have been [illegible] dis[illegible] unless it comes under Article [illegible] [illegible] will say:

[illegible] in case of a deficiency in the means to [illegible] interest and expenses, this would work [illegible] scarcely on such owners of unimproved lots [illegible] blocks—they having once paid their actual [illegible] for water used—and called on a second [illegible] ment on their unproductive property. [illegible] these are pertinent points for the consid[illegible] on of taxpayers, as well as for the commit[illegible] and should be done before it is too late. [illegible] the appropriation sufficient to build [illegible] in accordance with the terms expressed [illegible] act? I think not. It would, as so far [illegible] fall far short of having a "capacity" [illegible] and abundant supply of water for [illegible] If this is a fact, would not pro[illegible] seem [illegible] the policy to await for[illegible] action of the legislature and start off right? A Great Gold Mine.

Grass Valley Cal Union.

Monday of this week the Idaho mining [com]pany of this district, declared their two-hun[dred] [illegible] monthly dividend. An event of this kind [illegible] deserving more than a passing notice, as [there] is no history of anything like that number [of divi]dends ever having been paid by a good [mine] on the North American continent, and [illegible] as a living proof of the reliability of gold [illegible] mining when intelligently and [illegible] conducted and at the same [time] establishes the value and perma[nenc]y of the gold bearing veins of the Grass Val[ley dis]trict which have also stood high in the [estim]ation of practical miners since the first dis[cove]ry of gold bearing quartz on Gold hill [in] the year 1850. Since that time the [illegible] of quartz has been the prin[cipal] feature of mining in Grass valley [and] has been the chief sources of the prosper[ity] of that district. The Idaho mine is on the [illegible] lode as the Eureka, being the first exten[sion] east of that famous mine, which yielded [illegible] before the rich pay chute dipped [into] the Idaho ground. In January [illegible] the first dividend was declared, and in [illegible] year there were seven dividends, and since [illegible] the seventeen and a half years, with [a] few intermissions regular monthly div[idends] [illegible] had been, the one announced for the pre[sent] month being No 200. In that time th[e] [illegible] has been something over $8,000,000 [and] the dividends paid therefrom some[thing] exceeding $3,700,000, or over $1200 per [share] on the 100 shares of capital stock of th[e] [illegible] par value of $100 per share. During [this] period the mine has been opened down [to] the sixteenth level, which is 220 [illegible] the incline and 1600 feet on the perpen[dicular] [illegible] and the shaft is now being sun[k] [to] the seventeenth level. A remarkable fea[ture] of the mine is that the lode has carried bu[t] [one] pay chute, bearing eastward, and all th[e] [illegible] of the mine below No. [illegible] have been driven [illegible] all the pay has been in that direc[tion]. The pay chute has varied in width an[d] [illegible] of the levels having been driven [illegible] but the ore was no[t] [illegible] grade, although seldom so poo[r as] to leave a margin of profit.

WASHINGTON.

Three Committee Reports on the Payne Case.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE AN INQUIRY

The River and Harbor Bill—The House Passes a Number of Labor Bills—Nomination of a Portland Democrat.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Three reports from the senate committee on privileges and elections upon the Payne case were submitted to the senate to-day. A report signed by Senators Pugh, Saulsbury, Vance and Eustis, democratic members of the committee, sets forth at length the [illegible] history of the case, recognizes the transcendent importance of throwing around the seats of the United States the highest safeguards against seating a member whose title was procured by bribery [illegible] and [illegible] the process by which the [illegible] the conclusion that there is no ground for further proceedings against Payne.

The report says that the committee's first act was to comply with the first request of the Ohio house [illegible] to make an examination of the [illegible] taken by the select committee at [illegible] this testimony. It made a report to the committee that after careful reading [illegible] [illegible] Payne [illegible] with the corrupt use of money [illegible] with his election. Neither [illegible] showed that enough had been found to justify the charge that his election was procured by corrupt use of money.

About this time the supplemental resolution of the two houses of the Ohio legislature and of the republican state central committee made their appearance, and soon after Congressmen Little and Butterworth were heard at length.

THEIR CONCLUSION.

The signers of the report declare that no new evidence [illegible] contained in the original matter sub[illegible] brought to their attention which any [illegible] to be merely cumulative and [illegible] by itself or in connection with the original [illegible] justify a report in favor of a trial by the senate of Payne's right to his seat. They [illegible] that Henry B. Payne has [not] been charged with having anything to do personally or with having any personal knowledge of or connection with or participation in any act or anything that may have been done or charged as having been done that was wrong, criminal, immoral or reprehensible in his election; that no member of the committee and no witness, representative or other person has expressed an opinion or intimated any belief or suspicion that Payne is or was connected in the remotest degree by act or knowledge with anything that was or may have been wrong, criminal or immoral in his election, and on the whole case as presented to them they recommend that the senate make no further investigation of the charges involving the right of Payne to his seat.

The report asks that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the subject and that it be indefinitely postponed.

THE SECOND REPORT.

Senators Teller, Evarts and Logan unite in a report in which, after reciting the circumstances surrounding the senatorial election in Ohio in 1884, it is said no action was taken by the state legislature which elected Senator Payne calling in question the validity of his election; but that a new legislature constituted in January of the present year had adopted a resolution under which an investigation of the O'Donovan charges had been made. The senate committee had found it proper to accept the presentation of the case [illegible] the majority and minority reports of the select committee of the Ohio house of representatives. The only constitutional warrant for an investigation like that asked is the clause making each house of congress the judge of the qualifications of its own members and the clause conferring the right of expulsion.

The signers of this report do not find that a cause has been presented that would connect Payne with such turpitude as would tolerate his expulsion from the senate, nor that testimony is accessible that touched the subject of the personal inculpation of Payne. They therefore turn their attention to the question as to the validity of his election to the senate. The report adds that evidence in such a case must show that the fraud which it is alleged was committed embraced enough electors to have changed the result. Testimony presented by the Ohio house of representatives shows the number of members of the general assembly that had been brought into inculpation and the weight of evidence against them. As to the four members, Baker, Hunt, Schultz and Ziegler—it is found by the signers of the report that the testimony developed nothing of an inculpating character. As to the two members, Kulih and Hull, the report finds that they were not diverted from support of Pendleton to that of Payne. Of two senators and two representatives named in the majority report of the select committee—Mooney and Roach of the house and White and Ramsey of the senate—the signers of the report infer without observation of their own, to the majority and minority reports of the Ohio committee.

AN INVESTIGATION NOT WARRANTED.

They do not find that the select committee [illegible] [illegible] action to the legislature looking to any further investigation and they express the opinion that there is no evidence presented to the United States senate which purports to prove that frauds, corruption or bribery was employed to Payne's election affecting the votes either in caucus or the legislature whereby the election was carried to affect his election, nor is there any evidence that such proof exists. Therefore the report holds that the senate would not be warranted under the constitution in instituting an investigation.

The report points out that the state is not under the restraint which binds the senate in such investigations, and says a state should execute its laws respecting the purity of senatorial elections by indictment and conviction of bribe givers and takers. In this case the state has attempted no further investigation than is embodied in the matter laid before the senate either through the legislature or courts of law. If further examination by the state should be made the senate would be governed in its further action by what might appear, but as the matter stands the report holds that an investigation should not be instituted by the senate.

THE THIRD REPORT.

Senators Hoar and Frye in a separate report state that they can not concur with the views expressed by the other members of the committee. They describe the eminent sources from which the charges were brought to the attention of the senate, and say they think a case is presented in which it is the duty of the senate to ask petitioners to present their evidence and to authorize the issue of the proper process [illegible] the attendance of witnesses. [illegible] [illegible] the courts [illegible] [illegible] whether the result of [illegible] was thereby changed. For the [illegible] to this complaint would be taken as a declaration that it is indifferent to the question whether its seats are in the future a subject of bargain and sale or may be presented by the owners of a few million acres as a compliment to a friend. The report has a series of propositions which Little and Butterworth offer upon their own responsibility to establish to the satisfaction of the senate largely by witnesses who were not within reach of the Ohio committees. In brief among these are the following: Three-fourths of the members of the legislature were pledged to Pendleton and Ward; that just before the legislative caucus large sums of money were placed by Payne's son and other friends in the control of the active managers of Payne's canvass; that a gentleman whose name is offered to be given would declare that David R. Paige had said he handled $65,000 and that Oliver H. Payne had said it cost him $100,000 to elect his father; that members of the legislature who changed from Pendleton to Payne did so after secret consultations with agents who had the disbursement of these moneys and that these members [illegible] at that time [illegible] sums of money for which they did not [illegible] account.

[AN INVESTIGATION WARRANTED.]

The report discusses the above mentioned features of the case at great length, and the conclusion is reached that an investigation is warranted. The question is not the report says whether a case is proved. It is only whether it shall be inquired into. No unwilling witness had been compelled yet to testify and no process had gone out which could cross state lines. It would hardly be doubted that cases of the purchase of seats in the senate would rapidly multiply under the decision proposed by the majority of the committee. The first great precedent to constitute a rule under this branch of the law was to be this. Held by the senate of the United States that a charge [illegible] by the legislature of a state and by a committee of a political party to which a large number [illegible] [illegible] of its representatives [illegible] election of a senator was procured by bribery, accompanied by an offer to prove the fact, does not deserve the attention of the senate.

The report concludes with a resolution directing [illegible] investigation of the charges and with a recommendation that it be adopted.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—In the senate Pugh from the committee on privileges and elections presented a report in the election case of Senator Payne. He [illegible] on behalf of himself and Frye presented the dissenting views of the minority. Evarts made a separate report presenting the views of himself, Teller and Logan. All the reports were ordered printed in one document, and were placed on the calendar to be called any time as privileged matter.

Wilson of Iowa offered a resolution that the inaugural addresses, annual messages and such special messages as may be deemed of general public interest, of the several presidents of the United States, be arranged in chronological order and printed as a senate document referred to committee on printing.

Allison submitted a conference report on the legislative appropriation bill, the committee agreeing upon all points of dispute between the two houses except as to the following points: Clerks for senators not chairmen of committees, salary of assistant treasurer at Baltimore, appropriations for three clerks for the civil service commission and relating to compensation of internal revenue agents, surveyors, etc. The senate still further insisted on its disagreement with the house on these points.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

The senate resumed consideration of the river and harbor appropriation bill, the amendments adopted in committee of the whole being first disposed of.

The first point on which there was a division was on the amendment offered originally by Ingalls [illegible] for the Mississippi providing that the portion appropriated for Plum point and Lake Providence reaches be confined to the completion, repair and maintenance of levees throughout such reaches to a hight of two feet above the flood of 1882. The amendment was adopted.

All amendments agreed to by the senate in committee of the whole having been disposed of, the whole bill was open to amendment.

McMillan, chairman of the committee on commerce, moved to strike out all after the enacting clause of the bill and insert all items now in the bill except that in each case the amount be reduced [illegible] per cent. He explained that the amount of the house bill [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] by the committee [illegible] [illegible] $1,[illegible]000 the amount agreed to by the committee of the whole [illegible] more [illegible] the amount [illegible] the proposed [illegible] per cent reduction would be $1,[illegible]000.

An extended discussion followed. McMillan [illegible] submitted his substitute by direction of the committee on commerce and he and other members of the committee during the discussion [illegible] explained that they personally and a majority of the committee favored the bill as it stood but were constrained to recommend a reduction in the belief that any river and harbor [illegible] were to be had this session it must be [illegible] but so far as the senate was concerned it would doubtless pass the bill.

[OPINION OF EDMUNDS.]

Edmunds thought the proposed reduction wise. It would be better to make the reduction 50 per cent.

Miller said [illegible] wanted to swell the bill through [illegible] to the administration in order to [illegible] [illegible] It was an open secret he said that arrangements were being made in another body to [illegible] the bill [illegible] unless [illegible] provided amounts were increased beyond a certain point.

There had been [illegible] about the corridors of the capitol, in cloak rooms and on the floor of the senate, statements repeated day after day by men who represented the executive, by men who stood close to it, not in whispers but outspoken words, that if this bill exceeded a certain point it would [illegible] meet the executive veto.

Saulsbury asked Miller whether he had any information from the president or any person intimately connected with the president that he intended to veto the bill. It was not right for a senator to charge the president with an attempt to influence the action of the senate, because no president that ever [illegible] more careful in that respect than the present executive.

Miller replied that he made no such charge. He had no information whatever on the subject. He merely stated that men who stood before the country as leaders of the administration party had stated for weeks and weeks that if the bill exceeded a certain sum it undoubtedly would be vetoed.

The discussion was continued by Riddleberger, Call and Lincoln. The latter criticised the committee on commerce and referred to rumors of a presidential veto as something which came under [illegible] by the sewage system between the White House and the capitol.

Conger, member of the committee on commerce, resented the references to his committee, and characterized them as an insidious attack upon the committee. All through the speech he said ran an attack on the motives, sincerity, and honor of the committee.

At the close of Conger's speech, which was extremely bitter throughout, the senate without coming to a vote adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—In the house Randall of Pennsylvania from the committee on appropriations reported a joint resolution continuing in force till July 31 the provisions of the joint resolution providing temporarily until to-day for expenditures of the government passed.

Morrison from the committee on rules reported a resolution ordering night sessions for to-day and Saturday, to-night's session being for consideration of labor business and Saturday's for consideration of business reported from the committee on printing. Agreed to.

At the evening session the house passed the following bills from the committee on labor:

To prevent the employment of convict labor and alien labor upon public buildings or other public works.

Amending the act to prohibit the importation of [illegible] under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States.

[A] bill providing for payment per diem of government employes for Decoration Day and Fourth of July.

Directing the commissioner of labor to make an investigation in regard to convict labor in the United States.

The bill extending the provisions of the eight hour law to letter carriers gave rise to some opposition and pending action the house at 11 o'clock adjourned.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

THE CASE OF WARD M'ALLISTER.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—About a year ago Judge Ward McAllister, Jr., of California, a son of Ward McAllister of New York, was suspended by the president from the office of United States district judge of Alaska, and a person named Dawson was appointed in his place. Dawson's offenses having been exposed he decamped to avoid punishment, and the president nominated Lafayette Dawson of Missouri as his successor. Judge McAllister came to Washington last winter and insisted that his reputation should be cleared by an investigation of the facts relative to his suspension, and that his successor should not be confirmed. He insisted under the law that the president had no right to suspend a United States judge without the advice and consent of the senate and that body having refused [illegible] [illegible] to the confirmation of Dawson [illegible] was [illegible] judge of the district. WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The joint resolution providing [illegible] expenses of the government until July 31 was sent to the president this afternoon and at once approved.

Statements prepared at the treasury department show that the receipts of the government so far this month are [illegible] [illegible] and unless an [illegible] occurs before the end of the month the public debt statement to be issued August 1 will [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of $100,000,000 [illegible] [illegible] Another [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Apache [illegible]

NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: Douglas W. Taylor of Portland, Oregon, to be surveyor-general of Oregon; Lewis W. Williams of Missouri to be commissioner of Alaska [illegible] Sellers, register of the land office at Sacramento, California; [illegible] D. Williams of New York, agent of the Cheyennes and Arapahoes Indian territory. Receivers of public moneys [illegible] Aberdeen, Dakota; William [illegible] Holds, Springfield, Mo.; James N. Welch, Detroit, Mich. Commodore James E. Jouett to be rear admiral. Commodore [illegible] H. Russell to be rear admiral. [illegible] Irwin and James A. Green to be commanders.

DISCHARGED [illegible]

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Acting Secretary Fairchild to-day summarily dismissed a chief of division and two clerks in his office for dishonorable conduct in connection with examination for promotion. It seems the chief of division had been instructed to prepare examination papers for promotion to a [illegible] and after doing so surreptitiously furnished copies of the questions to two clerks under him. A high official of the treasury department states that he has been convinced that this practice has been in vogue and that the authorities are determined to put a stop to it as far as possible.

DOUGLAS TAYLOR APPOINTED SURVEYOR GENERAL.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Douglas W. Taylor of Portland is appointed surveyor-general of Oregon and Lewis Williams of Missouri, to be commissioner for Alaska and Juneau City.

TO PAY POSTMASTERS.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Senator Vance has submitted a proposed amendment to the general deficiency appropriation bill to appropriate $380,209 for unpaid salaries of postmasters awaiting appropriations.

Review of the Political Situation in Great Britain.

A LETTER FROM MR GLADSTONE

Salisbury's Offer to the Liberal Unionists—Exciting Scene in the French Senate—The Rebellion in Mexico Increasing

NEW YORK, July 15.—G. W. Smalley's cable special to the Tribune from London: The feature of the situation is the confidence and courage of the defeated home rule party. The victors find themselves face to face with perplexities. The vanquished accept their defeat as temporary and look forward with undiminished hope to a future triumph. There are two views of the situation. Gladstonians have no difficulty in finding [illegible] reasons for the defeat. The most loyal of them [illegible] that the grand old man was in too great a hurry, [illegible] too much in his own person [illegible] [illegible] by Schnadhorst [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] by the liberal associations. [illegible] his party too little time for education [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] what provisions of [illegible] [illegible] bill he meant to retain and what to [illegible] [illegible] They saw nearly every one of his [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to give him the [illegible] discretion which he asked. Scores and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] dismissed [illegible] for more [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Others chose [illegible] [illegible] and Lord Hartington, Bright [illegible] Chamberlain and Sir George Trevelyan [illegible] [illegible] and went with the majority of [illegible] liberal leaders. They accepted Bright's [illegible] that [illegible] had surrendered to Parnell [illegible] that Parnell was the head of a conspiracy against the empire. Gladstone relied on his appeal to the Irish sense of justice and on [illegible] [illegible] He [illegible] [illegible] enthusiasm and his [illegible] [illegible] the majority of his party [illegible] [illegible] was on his side [illegible]

CLAIM OF THE CONSERVATIVES.

Conservatives believe or profess to believe that [illegible] permanent [illegible] again be made under [illegible] favorable conditions. They insist that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] deny that England [illegible] home rule. They attribute the support of [illegible] to what they call Gladstonolatry and [illegible] [illegible] They insist that they have developed a feeling for the union which will be permanent. They declare that they have broken the force of the plea for self-government by demonstrating that the [illegible] two [illegible] and that [illegible] majority of two-thirds is passionately attached to the union.

Gladstone's last word is very practical one. We save Scotland, Wales, Ireland, Yorkshire, and [illegible] the North, and we have with us the civilized world. [illegible] leaders Healey, O'Connor and others express similar confidence. The questions are will Gladstone resign or face parliament and will there be a conservative or coalition ministry to succeed him. Gladstone will beyond doubt resign, if he consults his own preferences, the opinion of his colleagues and the general wish of the liberal party, but Parnell [illegible] [illegible] to take a contrary view which [illegible] [illegible] strongly supports. The question of the Irish policy of the future ministry offers perplexities [illegible] more serious.

LETTER FROM GLADSTONE.

LONDON, July 15.—Mr Gladstone has written a letter to the Duke of Westminster's reply to the premier's charge that his grace struck a blow at [illegible] [illegible] by asserting liberalism and aiding the election of the tory candidate in his district (Chester) by use of money and carriages. Gladstone twits the duke with working for the tories harder than he ever worked for the liberals and suggests that in doing so he is striking a similar blow at the aristocracy to that which he gave it when he helped defeat the reform bill in 1866. Gladstone says he does not challenge the propriety of the duke's action, but that he grieved over it. It was an act against patriotism [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and adds: "To disunite the [illegible] [illegible] impair the strength of the empire [illegible] [illegible] to strike a blow at the aristocracy [illegible] which you did in 1866 when you took a chief part in destroying the reform bill and in ousting the government. Is it not possible that what you do [illegible] [illegible] doing now [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] of the present issue involves the honor of the [illegible] The civilized world has stamped [illegible] [illegible] Irish policy with discredit and disgrace. The government sought to cancel the past [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the present [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] England's honor [illegible] [illegible] cleared. I lament that this should be prevented."

OPINION OF UNITED IRELAND.

[DUBLIN], July 15.—The United Ireland comments [illegible] the British political situation [illegible] [illegible] Among other things it says: "Tricksters, soreheads, and [illegible] [illegible] to assume office in the present [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] English history have to continue [illegible] [illegible] impulse—to grab at the emoluments of power. This is indeed a grotesque [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] imbrued [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of a priest [illegible] the purpose of robbing the altar." In another paragraph the paper says: "Gladstone's opponents [illegible] concocted the Belfast tragedies for political purposes. Murder, particular or wholesale, will not stop them any more than it did [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] The Marquis of Salisbury, Joseph Chamberlain and Lord Randolph Churchill are as unscrupulous as Pitt [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] they are punier. The [illegible] [illegible] the Times and Lord Hartington are as [illegible] [illegible] as those of Lord Cornwallis or Gen. Ross."

[ADVISES] COALITION.

LONDON, July 15.—The Standard says that [illegible] [illegible] the relative strength of the parties, the Marquis of Salisbury is the natural head of the [illegible] government. It adds: All conservatives will [illegible] the triumph which conservatives and [union]ists have won together will wish to see the Marquis of Hartington a prominent member of the new government and will also desire to have the [union]ists fairly and fully represented. Unless the Marquis of Salisbury adduces a conclusive reason [again]st this policy we are sure it is one the country will best understand. It will commend itself to the common sense of the electors. If Hartington's following are willing we are perfectly sure [illegible] there will be [illegible] [illegible] difficulty in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] arrangement.

THE TORY [illegible]

LONDON, July 15.—The gain made by the tories [illegible] [illegible] in the elections so far [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] seats over and above their [illegible] [illegible] the last house of commons.

THE TOTAL VOTE.

LONDON, July 15.—Total vote thus far: Conservatives and unionists [illegible] Gladstonians [illegible]

Copies of a telegram from [illegible] Sexton addressed to [illegible] [illegible] in Belfast have been placarded throughout that city. In it Sexton says the nation [illegible] hitherto have earned gratitude by their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and he implores them to continue to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] as much as possible [illegible] indoors especially at nightfall.

LORD SALISBURY'S OFFER.

LONDON, July 15.—Lord Salisbury has offered [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] four seats in his cabinet and [illegible] [illegible] of lesser [illegible] He will permit [Lord] Hartington to be leader in the house of commons and select what office he choose [illegible] [illegible] Lord Salisbury proposes [illegible] [illegible] premiership with the office of foreign secretary.

Conservative newspapers predict that the [illegible] will arise over obstructive tactics by the tories and Parnellites. Ministerial circles [illegible] the change [illegible] Gladstone [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the speaker [illegible] power of [illegible] [illegible] is disposed to follow the lead of Gladstone [illegible] Lord Salisbury proposes coercion [illegible] [illegible] will be resorted to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

LONDON, July 15.—The [illegible] at Wimbledon [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] was good [illegible] [illegible] strong. The [illegible] that had been [illegible] [illegible] between members of the house of lords [illegible] members of the house of commons has been [illegible] [illegible] it has been found impossible [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] later [illegible] [illegible] The shooting of the first stage [illegible] [illegible] prize was finished to-day. [illegible] [illegible] of the Aberdeen rifles [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] taking a bronze [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Canadian scores were made by Bell [illegible] and Wilson [illegible] 85 and 73.

THE QUEEN.

LONDON, July 15.—The queen to-day visited the [illegible] and Colonial exhibition for the third time.

SOUTH AMERICA.

[THE] GOLD DOLLAR THE BASIS.

LIMA, Peru, via Galveston, July 15.—In consequence of the depreciation and fluctuation of silver currency in circulation in this republic it has been [illegible] to use the American gold dollar as the [basis] of monetary transactions either fiscal or private, using the silver dollar at a value of eighty [cents] in gold for all fractions and for a quarter of [illegible] It is thought that the government will [ask] congress to give the matter its consideration.

FRANCE.

EXCITING SCENE IN THE SENATE.

PARIS, July 15.—The expulsion of the Duke d'Aumale was the cause of an exciting scene in the senate to-day. M Chesnelong said the duke's letter to President Grevy in no wise justified his expulsion. Gen. Boulanger, minister of war, replied that he would not tolerate the insolent letter of [illegible] An uproar ensued, and Baron Laneinvilled that the expulsion of the duke was an act of cowardice. Gen. Boulanger declared that he would not permit such an expression to be applied to the minister of war and quitted the tribune. M. Sorlin stated that the Duke d'Aumale's letter had been written with the consent of the Comte de Paris and that the whole affair was a veritable [illegible] Gen Boulanger declared that he would fulfill his duty as a republican minister. M Lareinty said he regretted that so distinguished a soldier as Gen. Boulanger should insult any one absent. An order then passed, by a vote of 157 to 76, approving the conduct of the government, and expressing confidence in its vigilance.

LONDON, July 15.—The Duke d'Aumale and the Duke de Chartres with a suite of fifteen persons arrived at Brussels to-day.

THE MEXICAN REBELLION.

NEW ORLEANS, July 15.—A special to the Times-Democrat from Lampasas, Mexico, says: A courier from Sabinos, twenty miles distant, reports that Rafael Casas, an old revolutionist, has collected a band of lawless characters in Ojo de Agua and robbed several haciendas in that neighborhood. They are now camped at Agua Fria near Sabinos, and consternation reigns supreme in the city. Many of the inhabitants are fleeing to Lampasas and some are making for the Texas border. People are evacuating this city. The military of the state of Coahuila have been notified [illegible] and is expected to arrive daily.

A special to the Times-Democrat from Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, says: Col Winslow, United States consul [illegible] arrived here yesterday. He reports that insurgents in that section are gaining strength and will make a junction with the revolutionists now scattered over districts bordering on the lower Rio Grande. In [illegible] [illegible] the one last December in Nuevo Leon the hands of the government [illegible] [illegible] There is no doubt that before [illegible] [illegible] passed the state of Tamaulipas will be under military rule. Civil Governor Canales has been deposed and a military governor appointed from the City of Mexico. No engagement has as yet taken place in this region.

A CONFLICT EXPECTED.

GALVESTON, July 15.—Special to the News from Laredo: For several days past there have been rumors of serious trouble along the Mexican border on the Rio Grande. Yesterday telegrams were received from the City of Mexico ordering troops to be stationed at Nuevo Laredo [and] down the river to suppress a contemplated revolutionary outbreak in the state of Tamaulipas. To-day affairs assumed a grave attitude from the fact that a number of Winchester rifles have been purchased with which to arm a volunteer company of Nuevo Laredo to assist in the defense of the city.

Later—Reports received to-night represent that a state of grave alarm exists and that a serious conflict will occur between the government forces and revolutionists who it is said have been arming for some time in the state of Tamaulipas, but the object of their movement has been kept a profound secret. The custom house in Nuevo Laredo would prove the richest prize that could be captured by any party of revolutionists on the northern border of Mexico. The revolutionary trouble in Tamaulipas it is feared will prove wide spread and serious.

A TRAIN ATTACKED.

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—A special from Matamoras, Mexico, to the Globe-Democrat says that yesterday an up train on the Matamoras & Monterey railroad was attacked by revolutionists at Capote station. Over fifty passengers were on the train, among them delegates to the congressional college from Reynosa, Mier, Camargo, Guerrero and other river towns and several army officers and their ladies. While the train reached Capote, according to a telegram from the customs guard to the collector of customs, it was attacked by Inocencio Papio and Adolfo Gonzales at the head of fifty revolutionists or bandits, and the passengers robbed of all their arms, but it is not stated whether any of them were hurt. Col. Ca[illegible] with a force of the Third cavalry was at Capote yesterday afternoon and it is thought he had a fight with the revolutionists.

Advices from Vera, Tamaulipas state that there have been revolutionary riots there in which three men were killed and Lieut. Col. Antonio [illegible] retta, commissioner of the state government, wounded. Prominent Cuellarists have all been driven from the place and have taken refuge in Escandon.

CANADA.

THE PACIFIC CABLE SCHEME.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Tribune's Ottawa, Ont., special: Sandford Fleming, civil engineer, has sailed for England on behalf of the Canadian Pacific railway to confer with the imperial government and an Australian agent concerning the establishment of cable communication between Canada and Japan and Australia and to ascertain the amount of annual subsidy which the colonies will guarantee. Sir Charles Tupper will also receive instructions from the dominion government in connection with a similar scheme. This is Fleming's scheme which the imperial authorities propose to support. The idea is to lay a cable from Victoria, B. C., thence to the Aleutian islands, thence to Yedo, Japan, thence to Hong Kong, and from there to Australia.

RUSSIA.

SIXTEEN PERSONS KILLED BY A SHELL.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 15.—While an iron dealer was unloading a wagon filled with old artillery material to-day that had been purchased from the government, a nine-inch shell, supposed to have been properly unloaded, exploded among a group of workingmen and others. Sixteen persons including four children were killed and several more injured.

EUGENE NOTES.

The carpenter work on the new M. E. church is completed. It is now ready for the plastering.

Quite a number of our citizens are off to the seashore or to the mountains for vacation [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. W. S. Shaw, our present efficient recorder, [has] received the appointment as deputy prosecutor [for] this county.

The financial statement published by the county commissioners shows the county to be out of debt and to have over $12,000 in cash in the treasury. A healthy condition to be in.

The advance in the price of hops has infused life and hopes into our growers, but owing to the very low prices of the last two years many of the fields have been neglected or but partially cultivated, which will hinder the output from being more than half a crop.

The taking of evidence in the famous Christian will case has been resumed. It will probably require fully two weeks to complete the taking of the depositions. Judge Willis of Roseburg and Judge Rumsey of Salem are assisting J. E. Fenton in favor of the will. W. R. Bilyeu of Albany is assisting his brother Frank Bilyeu of this city for the contestants.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Christian of this city were returning from Springfield in a buggy, when they were overtaken by a freight train at a point where the wagon road runs very near the railroad, their horse became unmanageable and overturned their buggy, throwing them out with considerable violence. The old lady escaped with but slight bruises, but the old gentleman had two ribs broken and was otherwise seriously bruised and injured, but not [illegible] [illegible] early recovery.

Objected to the Subject.

From the Washington Critic.

The ladies were giving a small course of [illegible] [illegible] lectures at private houses, and they interviewed a senator for the use of his house for the next one. "What is to be the subject?" he inquired. "Bacon," was the reply of the lady in charge [illegible] [illegible] "Certainly you may have the use of my house, but it seems to me you might have selected a more intellectual subject for a lecture than provisions."

Puritan Revival Needed.

What is needed just now in this country is a renaissance of Puritanism and of so-called Puritan [illegible] We need to recall that the [illegible] [illegible] made possible this one hundred and tenth anniversary of American Independence, [illegible] of general freedom based upon [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] freedom of each knew that liberty was not to be intrusted to the hands of feeble-minded and unreasoning persons.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Street Cars Attacked by a San Francisco Mob.

A HOT WAVE IN CALIFORNIA

A Jury to Try the Chicago Anarchists at Last Impaneled—An American Murdered by Mexicans—A Rate War Ended.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Everything moved quietly and smoothly on the North Beach and Mission railroad and the City company's road to-day. Cars were run at regular intervals and no molestation was offered them. The general opinion was, however, that it was but a calm before the storm which was to break in the evening. The North Beach & Mission people anticipating trouble ordered all cars in for the evening shortly after 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Soon after dark a crowd commenced to gather on that portion of the city company's lines on Mission street between Fourth and Sixth streets. The crowd was rapidly augmented until in a short time it was estimated that there were fully 3000 men in the vicinity and as the cars passed along they were saluted with showers of stones and other missiles. The mob soon became more demonstrative and proceeded to put a scantling across the track, which was, however, removed by police. Three cars, two coming from the ferry and another from the opposite direction, had the horses unhitched and windows broken, the drivers being forced to flee to save themselves from injury. One of the cars was also upset across the track. The police finding themselves unable to cope with the crowd sent for reinforcements, which were speedily furnished. The policemen then advanced on the crowd, making liberal use of their clubs. The crowd gradually dispersed and the district resumed its normal appearance.

Squads of policemen were stationed at each corner to prevent a regathering of the crowd. Four rioters were placed under arrest. Numerous light injuries have been reported, but no one is thought to have been seriously injured.

CALIFORNIA.

A HOT WAVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Dispatches received from all parts of the interior of the state for the past few days report the prevalence of a hot wave, the thermometer ranging in some places as high as 110 degrees in the shade. In a number of places, owing to the great heat, work in the fields had to be suspended. At this city to-day the highest temperature was [illegible]8 degrees in the shade.

SANTA ROSA, July 15.—Lee Laughlin's son near Windsor was to-day prostrated by sunstroke while working in a hay field. Physicians entertain hopes of his recovery.

BROKE HIS NECK IN DIVING.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Alfred Tournequist while bathing at the Alameda baths yesterday afternoon dived into the water, struck his head on the sandy bottom and broke his neck. Death resulted in a short time. Tournequist was 32 years of age and was to have left the city for New York next week to marry a young lady there.

THE BRIBERY CASES.

In the cases of Doane, Northey and Creighton, the jury bribers, this morning Judge Freer decided the point raised by the defense that the panel of jurors was not equal in favor of the state. The trials were subsequently postponed until Monday owing to the continued illness of Doane.

THE ANTI-CHINESE MOVEMENT.

The executive committee of the California anti-Chinese non-partisan association has decided to call an anti-Chinese state convention September 20.

NEWS ITEMS FROM VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, July 15.—The steamship Sardonyx was floated off the rocks this morning, uninjured. The town of Revelstoke on the west side of the Columbia river on the Canadian Pacific railway line was partially destroyed by fire. Wright, Ainsworth & Co. are heavy losers by the fire. Insurance partial.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A JURY SECURED AT LAST.

CHICAGO, July 15.—A jury to try eight anarchists charged with the Haymarket massacre was finally impaneled to-day. The twelfth man—H. T. Sanford—was accepted by the defense before the noon adjournment. In the afternoon when the jurors had been sworn the state's attorney produced a large drawing of the scene of the Haymarket riot and began his address. For the last three weeks he had felt great anxiety during the selection of a jury, which had somewhat unhinged him. He was now somewhat relieved because the jury in some measure was now responsible. For the first time in the history of this country men were on trial for their lives for endeavoring to make anarchy and taking life. He hoped it was the last time such a trial would take place. He wanted the jury's careful analysis of the evidence. He wanted conviction of no man from prejudice or anything except the facts and law. After dwelling on the atrocity of the Haymarket massacre, and [illegible] meetings previous to that event which were addressed by Spies and Parsons, and to interviews with Spies in which Spies said such an affair would take place, as bombs were already prepared, the state's attorney said he would be able to prove to the complete satisfaction of the jury that Lingg made the bomb which was thrown in Haymarket square on the 4th of May.

After describing the features of the plot to throw [bombs in]to the police simultaneously, the state's attorney said in conclusion: "I will attempt to [show who] threw the bomb and not a single conspirator will be placed upon the stand whom we will not corroborate by witnesses."

When the state attorney ceased the attorneys for the defense said they would not make statements for their side until the evidence was all in. To-morrow the examination of witnesses will begin.

[A WOMAN ACQUITTED.]

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 15.—[illegible] Connelly, one week ago last Sunday [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] chapel at Mine Springs [illegible] county and shot dead John Scoddy. She then surrendered herself to the authorities, but was [illegible] in jail. She gave as a reason for her action that he had slandered her. Both persons were of good families. She was indicted Tuesday by the grand jury and was tried yesterday. The verdict was not guilty. It is the first time a woman has ever been tried for murder in South Carolina. The evidence against her was overwhelming. The jury recognized that a murder had been committed but held that a woman should have a right to defend her good name.

BANK WRECKED BY A CASHIER.

CHICAGO, July 15.—An Omaha special says the [illegible] county bank of Bengleman [illegible] failed yesterday. Belzer, the president, has skipped to Canada and takes with him about $100,000. The business men and farmers feel the loss greatly as it was all they had on earth. Several [illegible] depositors had their little all in the bank [illegible] [illegible] to prove up to-day. Many will have to abandon their claims. The greatest excitement prevails. Belzer had transferred all his available property to his wife before leaving. Many Eastern banks and firms lose heavily.

RAILROAD NOTES.

A LONG RATE WAR ENDED.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Representatives of all the Western, Northern and Southwestern roads had another session here to-day, and as a result two committees were appointed to arrange tariffs by alteration of rates to the northwest and to all western points. It was tacitly agreed that rates be maintained until September 15. The new tariff will probably be issued this afternoon. It is believed that the long continued war in rates is now at an end.

One would imagine from the way the republican organs are going on that they had been informed that some explanation of the Oregon election was necessary, when as a matter of fact, they have not been called on for anything of the kind. It is pretty well understood that when a state goes democratic the responsibility of the republicans therefor is at an end.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1886.

PAYABLE IN GOLD.

Congressman Breckenridge, of Kentucky, in debate on Wednesday, expressed the opinion that the government had option of paying its bonds in gold or silver. The record of our financial legislation, fairly construed, does not sustain this view. Congress in 1869 passed the act to strengthen the public credit, pledging the payment of the bonds in "coin," and the funding act of 1870, providing for new issues, makes them payable "in coin." At the time when these acts were passed both parties to the discussion understood these acts to commit the government to gold payments; the friends of the acts declared this to be their purpose, and the opposition objected because it was proposed to pay in gold rather than in greenbacks. General Schenck, chairman of the committee on ways and means, introduced the act of 1869 by saying: "Honest men have remembered, too, that the bonds were taken on the faith of contemporaneous declarations by congress and the agents of the government that they were payable in gold." Mr. Bromwell said: "All we have got to do is to make our promises of gold as good as gold, satisfy the world that our bonds mean just what an English bond means, and that is gold for gold." General Logan said: "Let us stop this higgling about it, and say, as an honest people, that we mean to pay our honest debts, both greenbacks and bonds, in money that the world recognizes as money."

General Butler, in the debate on the funding bill, said: "We will agree to pay something that no people can change if we agree only to pay gold at present standard value. The bill has the words 'present standard value,' so that we may not change the value. Gold is the standard of value here." Mr. James Brooks said: "The payment of our debts, both principal and interest, in gold—this is the platform of the democratic party." Jones, of Kentucky, said that rather than have the bonds paid in gold, he would prefer to repudiate the whole debt. Holman, while holding the bonds might be paid in greenbacks, said: "There will be every motive to take the 4 per cent. bonds, payable in gold." In the senate Sherman said it was the purpose of the finance committee "to put the bond and the note on the same footing—both to be paid in gold." Mr. Fessenden said, "I wish to put it on the broad ground that by the original contract, according to any true legal construction of it, these bonds must be paid in gold." Mr. Hendricks protested against "making these bonds payable in gold." Mr. Doolittle opposed it for the same reason, believing that "they ought to be paid in greenbacks." Mr. Voorhees said, "We are providing for the payment of one thousand millions in gold," and he opposed the bill on that account. Mr. Sumner said, in alluding to our nation's improved credit, that it was due to the conviction that our bonds would be paid in the "universal money of the world." Mr. Sherman said: "No doubt exists now as to the payment of our bonds in gold." Mr. Howe, who voted against the bill, said, "These bonds are to be gold bonds." Mr. Morton also opposed the bill, his argument being: "If we have not returned to specie payments we cannot pay in gold; we must either pay in currency or not at all."

These citations are ample to show that when the acts of 1869 and 1870 were passed the words "gold" and "coin" were used by both sides in debate without discrimination. There was no talk of payment in silver, the dollar of that metal being then at a premium and not in circulation. These facts show the dishonesty of the argument of the silver men who contend that the silver dollar was at the time a legal coin of the United States, and that payment in silver would meet every demand of the acts in question. At the time of the passage of these acts not more than $8,000,000 of silver had been coined since the foundation of the government, and silver was practically non-existent and therefore not mentioned in this debate between those who wanted to pay in gold and those who wanted to pay in paper. After the passage of the funding act it was universally understood that the bonds were payable in gold and nothing else. The talk about silver began in 1876, but the silver argument has been repudiated by every secretary of the treasury from Morrill of Maine down to Manning. In every way possible, by the action of congress and the reiterated declarations of the executive, this government stands pledged to the payment of its bonds in coin of "standard value," and gold was the standard, by the concession of both parties, when congress passed the acts of 1869 and 1870.

THE STATE FAIR.

For several years the "state fair" has been going steadily from bad to worse. It ceased long ago to be in any reasonable or creditable sense representative of the agricultural interest of the state and has lost most of its original importance and interest as a social event. The races alone, of late years, have preserved it from utter failure, and these have not always been conducted in a way to merit patronage either by way of participation or attendance. The financial fortunes of the agricultural society declined with the merit of the fair, and two years ago it was practically bankrupt. At this juncture the state took hold of it and gave a liberal appropriation in its support under certain easy conditions of management. The fair of 1885 was the first held under state patronage and was in financial respects the most satisfactory of recent years. But as an exhibition it was far from satisfactory. Besides the stock and the races there was nothing worth looking at. The grand pavilion contained less in the way of an agricultural exhibit than may be seen at any time in any general grocery store in this city. It was a shabby and discreditable showing. Taken altogether the fair was not quite a failure, but it was far from being a pronounced success.

Now in all other agricultural states, fairs of this sort are common and successful. In California, the State fair held at Sacramento each fall is one of the distinct popular interests of the year. So it should be here. There is no reason why Oregon should not make as good and attractive a fair as California or any other state. This fall is a good time for a fresh start, and a fresh start must be taken if the agricultural society as an institution is to continue in existence. If the fair is reasonably successful the legislature will no doubt make another appropriation; but if it is another dismal affair, fuller of discredit than of credit, the legislature will properly refuse further aid. The people of the state will not tax themselves to support a fall horse trot. It is time for the managers to begin preparations for this coming fair, and the first thing to do is to secure a full and attractive exhibit of Oregon products. It should be borne in mind that the purpose and first interest of this fair is agricultural. Mechanical and other features are desirable, but they are secondary, and should not be allowed to usurp the foremost place. If the managers will keep an eye to the main interest, other interests will provide themselves. THE OREGONIAN hopes to see the coming fair a success, and here promises to the managers its cordial assistance in every possible way.

TOO GREEN BY HALF.

In allowing Simon to retain his position as chairman of the republican state central committee the leaders of the republican party in this state seem determined, whether in ignorance or defiance, to drive a good many republicans out of the party. Men can respect an honorable and honest opponent, but they don't care to train with traitors.

The above is from the Astorian, an ardent Mitchell paper. Now, inasmuch as Mitchell gains his successes through "deals" with democrats, where's the harm, from the standpoint of Mitchellism, in what Simon has done? Simon learned his political morals as well as his political methods in the service of Mitchellism, and what he did in the matter of defeating Waldo is the soul of political morality compared with the "deal" with democrats by which the chief of the ring, who embodies in himself all personal and political infamies, was sent to the U. S. senate. They who have swallowed camels by whole caravans certainly can take down a gnat or two if they will only resolve to try. Simon undoubtedly ought to be removed, but it doesn't become any Mitchell man to say so. For Simon merely trafficked for selfish ends with the enemy, and this for years has been the Mitchell system of politics. And because it is the Mitchell system, and because Mitchellism controls the republican party of Oregon, Simon will remain in the position of chairman of the committee. The Astorian is too green by half.

THE RESULT AT SEATTLE.

We learn from Seattle that the election of W. H. Shoudy, candidate of the scrub element, to the mayoralty was accomplished through the apathy of the better class, who did not come out to the polls in full force. The stay-at-home vote doomed the city to a term of misrule, just as the stay-at-home vote permitted the return of Gerdes et al. to the council in this city last month. It seems incredible that this should be so. At Seattle, of all places, it would seem that the people ought to be awake to the interests of the time. The disturbance last winter which resulted once in the shedding of blood in the streets and twice in the garrisoning of the city with national troops, the exposures of local communistic schemes by the late grand jury, the business depression which followed these things and which now paralyzes every interest, the open discontent with law and order and the secret threats of further violence, with the discredit and shame suffered by the city—these things it would seem, would stir a community profoundly, and upon an occasion like that of Monday bring out to the polls every man having a decent regard for the public interests. It would be believed that every decent voter would regard the public interest as a personal one. But the recent troubles had little effect, other than to organize the antagonistic and rowdy spirit. The saloons, the bawdy houses, the slums poured out their utmost strength, which, uniting with a blind and stupid element which forgot principles and times in its devotion to politics, won the day. Such a result at such a time shows how lightly the privilege of the ballot is held; and it suggests a danger dreadful merely as a possibility to every patriot. What is to become of the country if decent people retire from politics and refrain from voting, while those who have no interest but to misrule and plunder continue active?

The sheriff of Linn county, who let Saunders go, or, at least, didn't keep him, deserves a leather medal with an inscription thereon epitomizing the facts. In his simplicity, the sheriff supposed that Saunders was taking things easy; it didn't once occur to him that the murderer might have special reasons for wanting to go, and therefore that it would be good sense to see that he shouldn't have a chance; and intercourse with the prisoner from the outside was allowed to be so free and easy that after he was gone half a box of cartridges and an ax were found in the jail, undoubtedly introduced there by the murderer's friends. The sheriff evidently thought that Saunders would regard it as a duty to stay and be hanged. Such an official is much too fresh and green for this old world.

The case at Walla Walla is a curious one. The man supposed to be Saunders and detained for identification appears not in the least concerned about his situation. Deputy Sheriff Humphreys is positive that he is not Saunders, while half a dozen other people are positive that he is Saunders. The authorities at Walla Walla have gotten it into their heads that Humphreys is trying to get the prisoner off, either with the idea of re-arresting him and getting the reward or of enabling him to escape. We can not credit this theory. In all probability the wrong man has been arrested. It is believed in Linn county that Saunders is in hiding in the Soap creek country. He is thoroughly familiar with that section and has friends and relatives among the people thereabout.

D. M. C. Gault, it is said, intends to test in the courts of the state the right of Mrs. A. C. Gove to act as superintendent of schools for Multnomah county. It will pretty certainly be decided that Mrs. Gove can not legally hold the office, since she is not an "elector;" but then there will be compensation in a result which will show the absurdity of the constitution and laws in the matter of suffrage, in that women who are admittedly well qualified to serve the public in official places nevertheless can't do it because they can't vote. It will be the best argument for woman suffrage ever presented in this state. There are many people who must be taught by means of object lessons.

Douglas W. Taylor, of this city, has been appointed surveyor-general of Oregon to succeed Judge Tolman, who has held the position for eight years. The appointment is in all respects a fit one and will give general satisfaction. Mr. Taylor was the single democrat elected last month to represent this county in the legislature. If he accepts the surveyor-generalship he will have to resign his legislative office, and in this event a special election must be held to choose a representative in his place.

Salem is to have a bridge across the Willamette. By the way, what has become of the Morrison street bridge scheme?

How to Shorten Life.

The receipt is simple. You have only to take a violent cold, and neglect it. Abernethy, the great English surgeon, asked a lady who told him she only had a cough: "What would you have? The plague?" Beware of "only coughs." The worst cases can, however, be cured by DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. In Whooping Cough and Croup it immediately allays irritation, and is sure to prevent a fatal termination of the disease. Sold by druggists.

THE COURTS.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT—NO. 1.

The following cases were yesterday settled and dismissed.

Joseph Buchel vs. Charles H. Dodd & Co. September 29, 1883, defendants used the barge Cascades to carry some powder. Plaintiff claims they damaged the barge to the extent of $1750. Defendants admitted that the barge was damaged and allege that it was afterwards fully repaired.

Lee Hone vs. Thomas A. Jordan. Plaintiff complains that November 6, 1884, defendant unlawfully seized a lot of wagons, harness and several horses thereby damaging him in the sum of $2235, wherefore he prayed for judgment.

Wong Dong vs. Fing Lung & Co. Suit instituted May 25, 1884, to recover $153 for goods sold and delivered.

King Ling vs. Wong Him Soon. Suit brought September 2, 1884, to recover $74 for goods sold and delivered.

Wong Don Sui vs. Wong Him Soon. Suit to recover $2000 money loaned between the 1st day of May 1883, and January 1, 1884.

The case of John Klosterman vs. Merrill & Budd was dismissed at plaintiff's costs. Suit to recover $400 on a promissory note executed by Budd & Merrill and indorsed by Eugene D. White.

Charles Upton vs. D. C. Lounsberry, order setting aside the judgment of $72 obtained by plaintiff against defendant by stipulation of all parties concerned. The suit was to recover on a note executed by Lounsberry April 3, 1880, to Hawley Dodd & Co., and subsequently assigned to Upton.

Amos N. King vs. G. and F. Voos; report of referee confirmed and judgment for defendants for costs.

Andrew Rasmussen vs. Henry F. McMillan; parties allowed until 21st to settle bill of exceptions and file motion for a new trial. Rasmussen several days ago got a verdict against McMillan for $211.

Trumbull vs. Herman Schmidt; mandate from the supreme court affirming the judgment of the lower court and ordering that John Rotner and E. Feitzachs, sureties on the appeal, pay the costs taxed at $58 50 and the further sum of $31 25 with interest from May 11, 1885.

Carter, Rice & Co., respondents, vs. L. H. Frank; Ashland Bros. garnishees; appellants; mandate from the supreme court reversing the decision of the lower court wherein Carter, Rice & Co. got judgment for $378 5? and appellants, to recover costs, taxed at $64 50.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT—NO. 2.

A. J. Lawrence vs. Jemima Lawrence; suit to quiet title. The court finds the plaintiff is the owner of lot 6 and the west 70 feet of lot ..., block 154, city of Portland.

C. B. Bellinger et al. vs. George W. Weidler et al.; suit to quiet title; ordered that defendants George W. Weidler, C. H. Hampton, Harry C. Hampton, May Hampton and Ettie Hampton, minor heirs of H. Hampton, deceased, convey and execute to C. B. Bellinger and H. Y. Thompson a good and sufficient deed of lot 6, block 11, city of Portland within sixty days of the entry of this decree.

Lewis Love vs. City of Portland et al.; referred to David Goodsell as referee to take testimony.

State of Oregon vs. E. A. Spear, W. J. Cook and F. Atkins; plea of guilty of two indictments and fined $100 each.

Leander Holmes vs. Jacob Risler; referred to G. G. Gammons to take testimony and report findings of facts and conclusions of law.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court yesterday Wm. M. Millin was tried and convicted of splitting the car of a boy named Floyd Renicks and was fined $10. While the ... Sunday last McMillan insulted some of Renicks's sisters, and the result was a row. Renicks getting a little the best of it by using a club on McMillan. Sunday evening they met on ... street bridge and renewed the quarrel. Frank Rheinfrank and Curtis Smith, two boys, were in the dock on a charge of the larceny of fifty pounds of lead iron belonging to F. Fauch from a point near Milwaukie. Rheinfrank stated that he and Smith went with George Ikeman, another boy, to Milwaukie in a boat. On arriving there Ikeman loaded the iron in a boat. Rheinfrank says that when he and Smith ascertained that Ikeman's purpose was to commit theft they left the boat at the White house and walked into town. Judgment will pass on the case to-day. Ikeman has already been convicted and sentenced.

HEAVENLY VISITOR IDENTIFIED.

RAINIER, July 14.

Our friends at Astoria have discovered a bright wandering star on their northern horizon moving to the eastward. Washington territory should be particular about such matters and not permit these apparent vagaries to cause uneasiness at the mouth of the river. The light ... of salmon ... this new visitor to an object of earnest discussion. The star referred to is doubtless Alpha Aurigae, of the first magnitude, and crosses the meridian at about half past nine in the evening ... in lower transit when it is two and a half degrees above the horizon at Astoria. It will then appear to move through nearly fifteen degrees in an hour. If they will keep their eyes sharply open they will find Beta Aurigae following its leader forty minutes later and one degree nearer the horizon. ...

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

DROWNED IN GUILD'S LAKE.—Last night about 8 o'clock Coroner DeLin received word by telephone that a man had been accidentally drowned in Guild's lake. He proceeded to the scene and brought the body to the morgue, and will hold an inquest this morning. Letters found on the person of the deceased denote that he is of good family, and that his name is Van Burgh. One dated Hilversum, Holland, July 16, 1885, and signed "Your loving father, J. Van Burgh," states that the writer sends him 300 gulden, and begs him to turn over a new leaf and become a different man. A letter of recommendation signed L. Larsen ... mentions the name of H. Erligh, and a pawn ticket for a gold ring also contains the name of H. Erligh. This is all that has as yet been ascertained as to what the deceased's name is. The circumstances of the drowning are about as follows: Van Burgh has been for some time seeking employment and yesterday Tom Hicks ran across him and got him a place to work in a hay field a little distance below Therklesen's mill. Van Burgh began working about 10 o'clock, and at 6 o'clock in the evening started in a boat along with a boy about 14 years of age to cross Guild's lake and procure a bucket of drinking water. On returning and when near the opposite shore, the boy noticed Van Burgh tremble and a moment or so afterwards he went into a fit and fell over the side of the boat so that his head stuck under the water. The boy tried to pull Van Burgh out but his efforts proved unavailing. He managed to get the boat ashore when he sounded an alarm, to which some men in the neighborhood responded. Van Burgh was taken out of the water dead and placed in the boat to await the arrival of the coroner. The particulars of the case and the man's correct name will probably be brought out to-day at the inquest.

PRIVATE RIVER FRONTAGE PRIVATE PROPERTY.—Yesterday in the state circuit court Judge Stearns rendered a decision granting a perpetual injunction against the steamer Latona from landing at the town of Sellwood. It is of interest to a great many owners of river frontage on the Columbia and Willamette who have watched the progress of the suit closely. The Sellwood Real Estate company when they laid out the town reserved all water front privileges and constructed a wharf for their own use. The Latona landed at the wharf. Upon petition of the company a temporary injunction was granted against the Latona. The principal point under dispute was whether the wharf was private property or a public landing. The court held that the wharf was private property. Finally after numerous amended complaints were disposed of in favor of the company the Latona claimed that there had been a wood landing at Sellwood and this constituted a public landing. The court held otherwise and granted a perpetual injunction.

FIRES ON THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.—Mr. H. Abbott received the following telegram from Superintendent Marpole at Donald yesterday: "No. 2 train on the 9th got off the track near Beaver canyon owing to bush fires causing expansion of the rails and the baggage, emigrant and first-class cars were totally destroyed by fire. The sleeper was injured and was sent east on No. ... train to-day with the passengers all comfortable. The engine was slightly damaged. The mails were saved but some baggage was destroyed. The mail clerk and fireman were slightly injured but not severely. There were no casualties among the passengers. No. 2 got through on the 10th, after three hours delay caused by the same bush fires. No injury was done to the track or bridges. Terrific fires with a hurricane, are raging between Rogers's pass and Donald since noon yesterday (the 9th) and the fires are still bad to-day."—Victoria Colonist.

UNPLEASANT OUTCOME OF A HOSS RACE.—In Portland when would-be sports get left on a "fixed" horse race they swallow their loss and make arrangements to get even on the other crowd. The following from a correspondent at Eugene shows that the spirit of revenge burns brighter in Lane than in Multnomah: "Some fellows came here last week with a California horse called Lingo and matched him against Dick Hayes's bay mare Sadie C., for an 800 yard race, for $300 a side, which was run last Saturday, Lingo winning, since which time a regular war has sprung up among the parties, and suits and counter suits, arrests and counter arrests have been made and from the present outlook it will cost the county several hundred dollars and some of them may land in the penitentiary, where probably they should be."

ARRESTED FOR THEFT.—Wednesday a man named L. Larsen, who hails from St. Paul, Or., was around town trying to sell a $75 Singer sewing machine for $25. The agents of the company here heard of it, and on inquiry ascertained that the machine was one they had shipped to their agent at Salem, P. A. Wagner, the agent here caused Larsen's arrest for larceny and the agent at Salem was telegraphed for to come down, so as to tell what he knows about the case. Larsen came here bringing a team with him which he was also trying to sell. He was to go from here to Walla Walla, and says he got the machine from a man named Brown. When arraigned in the police court yesterday he interposed a plea of not guilty and asked that the case be continued until to-day, in order that he could procure witnesses.

TWO ABSORBING TOPICS.—Curiosity over the escape of Saunders and anxiety as to whether Yaquina bay is to get a large appropriation from congress seem to be the absorbing thoughts in the minds of the people of Benton county at this time. Every intelligent man and woman out there reads THE OREGONIAN, but some of them want news before it is possible to give the facts. AN OREGONIAN man went through the county this week on a flying trip to Yaquina bay and learned that the people there, as in Portland, expect a man connected with a newspaper to know everything. At Corvallis the first question from every acquaintance was, "Have they really got Saunders?" At Yaquina bay every man with whom he conversed asked, "Will the river and harbor bill pass?"

JUDGMENT SET ASIDE.—Judge Stearns yesterday rendered a decree in the case of E. Haas vs. M. Morris, W. J. Quinn and T. A. Jordan. The judgment rendered January 6, 1884, in favor of Quinn for $2041 38 is set aside except as to $241 63. All injunctions are dissolved and the sheriff is ordered to proceed with the sale of the property. The decree provides first that the costs be paid; second, Quinn's claim of $241 63; third, the judgment rendered January 12 in favor of E. Haas & Co. for $600; fourth, the judgment in Haas's favor in the U. S. court for $8.1 60; fifth, the judgment obtained by L. R. Beblow in the justice's court of Morrison precinct for $208; sixth, the payment in full of the balance of Quinn's judgment, and if there is any money left Morris gets it.

GRAND ARMY EDITION.—On the 29th inst. the special extra edition of THE OREGONIAN will be issued with a full page group of portraits of prominent Grand Army men which is being prepared by the West Shore Lithographing company especially for this number. The edition will contain a descriptive article relative to the department, the roster, sketches of posts and officers and other interesting G. A. R. matters. In addition to these features it will contain matter of special interest to those visiting California on the occasion of the encampment, and also such material calculated to inform intending visitors to the Northwest of the country and its resources. In view of a demand, extra copies will be printed and sent to the national encampment.

CARELESS WITH HIS MUMPS.—A gentleman connected with one of the railway offices in this city yesterday went to one of our principal hotels accompanied by his wife and 10-year-old son to call on some friends stopping there. On stepping into the elevator they found a boy whose head was about twice the natural size riding up and down with the elevator boy for fun. As the mumps is a contagious disease and neither of the parties had had them they were very much alarmed and ... that they should be so exposed ... A boy with the mumps ... should be kept where he would not be likely to give the disease to others.

AT THE SEASIDE HOUSE.—A gentleman who returned last night says that the weather since Saturday has been perfect. On account of rains early last week the brook has been very high, the water running over the dam and preventing the catching of trout. However on Tuesday enough of the speckled beauties were taken to supply the table and from now on there will be plenty. Following is a list of arrivals since the last report: M. P. Callender and wife, Knappton; Miss Annie Callender, Knappton; Mrs. H. M. Simpson, San Francisco; Miss Minnie Rinn, San Francisco; Miss Emma Plummer, Portland; Mrs. Edward Failing, six children and nurse.

INQUEST DEEMED UNNECESSARY.—The name of the Chinese woman who poisoned herself Wednesday was Loui Gum and her husband's name is Lee Chuey. Coroner DeLin deemed it unnecessary to hold an inquest as after a thorough examination there was found to be no suspicion of foul play. The woman had been subject to spells of dementia or melancholy and there is no doubt but what she took the opium with suicidal intent. Three doctors attended the woman previous to her death and administered antidotes but without effect. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was attended with great pomp.

A BUSINESS HISTORY OF THE CITY.—From a card issued by officers of the Portland board of trade we learn that Messrs. Thompson & Co. are preparing a compilation of the manufacturing, commercial and business enterprises of the city to embrace an historical and descriptive review, an account of present population and wealth together with the progress of the past decade. Thompson & Co. have done similar work for many cities, specimens of which show well. Their head office is in Chicago. Our board of trade ask citizens to give them co-operation and encouragement.

DEATH FROM CONSUMPTION.—James McCafferty, "Little Jimmy," who for years was solicitor for the Occidental hotel, died at Hillsboro late Wednesday night of consumption. For the past few months he had been engaged in running a hotel at Hillsboro. He leaves a wife and two children. The flag of Samaritan lodge I. O. O. F. was at half mast yesterday in his memory. The remains will be brought to Portland this morning and the funeral will take place from the Odd Fellows temple at 4 P. M.

AS TO BLANK.—The name of a man named Blank of East Portland was mentioned in an item published on Tuesday which gives an account of a saloon row in that town. There was only incidental mention of the name given in the words of one who made a statement about the row, but it is proper to say that Blank was not present and had nothing whatever to do with the affair.

LEGACIES.—Bishop Morris reports to the Annual convocation of the missionary jurisdiction the receipt of a legacy of $1000 from Miss Elizabeth Mifflin of Philadelphia, for missionary purposes; of one of $500 from Mr. M. W. Fechheimer, for the Good Samaritan hospital, and one of $600, from Miss Mary Wall, for the benefit of St. Paul's church, The Dalles.

MINER KILLED.—Frank Johnson, a miner working in an air shaft at Carbonado, W. T., was killed Tuesday morning. The bulk head on which he was standing gave way, precipitating him down the slope a distance of 300 feet. When found he was still alive but expired a few moments thereafter. Deceased was a sober steady young man, a native of Sweden, about 27 years of age. He was buried there Wednesday under the auspices of Carbon River lodge, No. 37, I. O. O. F., of which he was a member.

SUCCESSFUL FESTIVAL.—A most successful church festival was given on Wednesday evening at the skating rink in Albina. There were nearly 400 persons in attendance and the committee report receipts of about $85. This was gotten up wholly by ladies not members of the church to assist the ladies of the church in paying the balance due on church furniture. This will more than clear the indebtedness of the Ladies' aid society who are very thankful to those who led in this matter.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—A woman who lives over the drug store at the corner of Third and Jefferson took four morphine pills last night with suicidal intent. Her child discovered it and raised an alarm. Dr. Panton was hastily summoned and by giving emetics and antidotes hypodermically saved her life for the time being at least. The woman's husband died recently, and it is said she visited his grave yesterday afternoon, returning home very much depressed.

SERENADED.—Last night a number of the members of Company K tendered Lieut. Taylor, the newly elected major of the First regiment, Second brigade, O. S. M., a serenade. The music was furnished by the Sterling band. Lieut. Taylor in a neat speech thanked the boys for the honor conferred on him in his election and afterwards invited them inside to partake refreshments.

DAILY MAILS.—The arrangement for carrying daily mails to the Seaside and on the north to Ilwaco and Oysterville is now complete and it will continue during the summer season. This will be a convenience that the visitors to the resorts will fully appreciate.

BATTALION ENCAMPMENT.—It has been suggested that the First battalion, Oregon state militia, go into camp during the coming state fair. The idea has many backers in the battalion who are anxious to see the movement carried out.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

J. Kelly, the saloon keeper, has been arrested for the murder of Frederick Kalosuha, the sailor. It seems that Moran and Kalosuha went into Kelly's place and while there Kalosuha accused Kelly of taking $5 from him. Kelly denied it and made the remark, "I'll put him to sleep." He then took Kalosuha into a rear room and it is there the dope is said to have been administered. Kalosuha must have accidentally been given an overdose, as it could not have been the intention of the parties to kill him.

THE EAST SIDE.

Cornelius Buckley was arraigned in Justice Bullock's court yesterday charged with assault and battery upon the person of Robert Bruce. It seems that Buckley misunderstood Bruce to make some remarks reflecting upon the character of a young lady, and on the impulse of the moment struck the supposed defamer in the face. Not until after his arrest did he discover the fact that Bruce was innocent. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

LAWN PARTY.

The lawn party given last evening at the home of Mrs. Rachael Hawthorne, corner Twelfth and O streets, was a pleasant affair throughout. The handsome grounds were beautifully decorated with oriental lanterns and provided with rustic seats. Several tastily arranged booths were presided over by young ladies, who dispensed ice cream, lemonade and other refreshments. The gypsy tent in charge of Mrs. Allstock was one of the most popular resorts of the evening. Social games and music were among the pleasurable pastimes enjoyed. At a late hour the gay company dispersed with many expressions of appreciation of the graceful hospitality of their hostess.

ANOTHER ASSAULT CASE.

Joseph Hubbel last evening swore to a complaint in Justice Bullock's court accusing Frank L. Logan of assault and battery. On Saturday last Hubbel hired a horse of Logan, and upon returning the animal to the stable says he was called vile names and knocked down. Logan says Hubbel rode the animal furiously up and down the street and was finally compelled to desist by his interference in behalf of his beast. Some words ensued, resulting in a slight fracas. The case will be heard to-day.

ARM FRACTURED.

NOTES.

Mrs. C. B. Carlisle is sojourning in Southern Oregon for a season.

A. H. Breyman and wife have gone to Salem to spend a few days visiting relatives.

Miss Nellie Boise and Miss Minnie Breyman of Salem are visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. D. O. Ghormly, who has just recovered from an attack of typho-malarial fever, left yesterday morning for Ashland, where she will spend the summer visiting with friends.

Councilman F. A. Bancroft, it is said, will reconsider his resignation presented to the council at its last meeting and in response to the earnest solicitation of friends will serve as a member of that body.

Mr. T. L. Powell and wife will arrive over the Northern Pacific this morning. Cader's many friends in the two Portlands will be glad to welcome him and his fair bride to their home in the glorious West.

Hon. John Kenworthy and family, Mrs. Charles Fernau and family, Mrs. L. McCormick and daughter, Miss Mollie Knott, Joe Knott and Mallory Raffety left for the East Portland camp at Long Beach yesterday.

The "mothers' meeting" held in the Holladay addition Congregational church on Wednesday afternoon was favored with an address by Miss Dr. Clara Peaslee upon the subject of "Our Girls." The effort is highly spoken of by all who heard it.

The parties to the action were married in this city in the month of March, 1871.

NOT THE MAN.

PORTLAND, July 15, 1886.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Your telegraphic correspondent at Walla Walla makes several serious mistakes in his report of my meeting with the man arrested at that place supposed to be W. W. Saunders, the man convicted of the murder of Chas. H. Campbell at Albany. I went to Walla Walla as deputy sheriff from Linn county to bring the prisoner back provided it was Saunders. As soon as I saw him I stated there was no resemblance between the men except that both were tall and spare. The man arrested is two inches taller than Saunders. He must be several years older. He has natural teeth worn down in front nearly to the gums. Saunders has false teeth, and kept them highly polished. The prisoner at Walla Walla has coarse black hair standing almost straight up on his head. Saunders's hair was black and cut short. The Walla Walla prisoner has a large scar on the left cheek. Saunders had not. His face is much wrinkled while Saunders's was as smooth as a youth's. I offered the officer who made the arrest $100 more than the reward offered if he would bring the man to Albany and have him identified as Saunders. Your correspondent is mistaken when he states that I said that Saunders was in my charge when he made his escape. I had nothing to do with the Albany jail nor its inmates. I know Saunders well and would recognize him as readily as any man in Oregon, but as a sworn officer I did not feel it my duty to take charge of the wrong man and convey him to Albany only to be released.

General Resemblance Between the Prisoner at Walla Walla and the Escaped Murderer, but no Identity of Feature.

Yesterday Deputy Sheriff George Humphrey, of Linn county, arrived here from Walla Walla. He is getting to be a famous man and when he registered at the St. Charles a reporter of the Evening Telegram was at his heels for an interview relative to the identity of the man supposed to be W. W. Saunders. Humphrey said most positively that the man is not Saunders. "The man under arrest resembles Saunders in scarcely any particular. He is taller than the fugitive by not less than two inches, his features bear but very slight resemblance. Saunders's face is smooth like a boy's, while the man under arrest is old and wrinkled. In no respect do the voices of the men resemble each other. Chestnut, as he calls himself, must be over 40 years of age, and looks much older than Saunders. He has natural teeth, which are black and worn down nearly level with the gums. Saunders had false teeth which he seemed always to have much pride in and took great pains to keep brushed white and clean. The person at Walla Walla has coarse black hair, standing almost straight up on his head. Saunders's hair was black and cropped short. Chestnut has a long scar on his left cheek and the fugitive has not. The former person is bronzed and sunburnt and clad in very rough shabby clothes.

"The first moment I looked at him," said Humphrey, "I said, 'that is not Saunders. I know it is not.'" On this point Humphrey is as positive and emphatic as a man can well be. "If any one," said he, "has a right to know Saunders I think I have. I have had charge of him for several months in the jail and was an officer of the court during the time of the trial. I sat alongside of Saunders for five days, and had every opportunity to mark carefully all his peculiarities of manner, look and speech. The man arrested at Walla Walla is not Saunders, I tell you. Of that fact I am as certain as that I am speaking and looking at you this moment.

"I did not bring him down for the simple reason that I know he is not the man which the authorities of Linn county want. So far as I know he has committed no crime and I declined to bring an innocent man here in irons. The man Chestnut was perfectly willing to come along with me. He said: 'I have no money and I was on my way to California at the time of my arrest. I will gladly go with you providing you will take me and pay for my passage. You may load me down with shackles if you want to; it will make no difference to me so long as I get a free ride.' I tell you," said Humphrey, "that if that man is Saunders he would not talk that way."

In the course of further conversation Humphrey said: "Some people in Walla Walla seemed determined to make out the man arrested to be Saunders. They seem determined to have that $1500 reward which is offered. Some seemed disposed to blame me for not declaring Chestnut to be Saunders and because I declined to take him to Albany. I told the officer who arrested the man if he would bring the prisoner to Albany and have him identified there as Saunders I would pay him out of my own pocket $100 besides what the authorities offer. I also said," remarked the deputy sheriff laughingly, "that if there was any person in Walla Walla who wished to bet $1000 that the prisoner is the fugitive we are after I would like to see him. So you see I am willing to back my judgment on the question of identification. Why, the man Chestnut, if that is his real name, is a coarse illiterate man. Anybody can tell that by looking at him and hearing him speak. About the only way the authorities at Walla Walla can get that reward," remarked Humphrey in a very dry way, "is to kill the prisoner at Walla Walla, mutilate the body so as to destroy all possibility of recognition and identification, bring it to Albany and prove that the remains are those of Saunders. The officer at Walla Walla wants the $1500 reward and the authorities of Linn county want Saunders; that is at present about the only difference between them."

"There is one statement which has been published about the escape of Saunders that I desire to correct. It has been repeatedly asserted that I had charge of the prisoner on the night of his escape. That is a mistake, for I did not have him in custody at that time."

It is believed at Corvallis and in Benton county, where Saunders is well known, that he is concealed within twenty miles of Albany, that he has brave friends and that he will stay in concealment until it is safe for him to leave the state. It is hinted that friends came from Texas for the express purpose of aiding him to escape and that the arrest of Jamison (the prisoner who broke jail with Saunders) for illegal voting was part of the plan. The first report of Saunders's arrest was not believed. He broke jail on the morning of July 5, that is to say shortly after midnight of the 4th. If the statement of the harvest hands in whose company he was found is to be believed, he was in Harrington, Lincoln county, W. T., on Tuesday the 7th. It is impossible for a man to accomplish that distance in the time given unless he is a railroad magnate, running "special" all the way.

The question now is: "Is this another part of the plan for Saunders's escape? Is Mr. Chestnut a friend of Saunders, and did he allow himself to be used so as to distract attention from the real murderer?"

A PHYSICIAN TO THOSE NOT SICK.

PORTLAND, July 15.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Will you allow me to call the attention of those who are unchurched to the fact that arrangements are being made to provide a permanent place for their accommodation—where Sunday sermons will be delivered to all who care to hear, especially those who by reason of their status and convictions have found themselves outside of all churches, societies, creeds, etc. Such are called freethinkers, liberal Christians, materialists, spiritualists, atheists, deists, gnostics, agnostics, etc. These, when collected together, would make a fine intellectual audience and might be denominated "The Church of Divine Fragments." Sunday sermons on scientific, philosophic and historic subjects would be very acceptable to that class.

The Rev. Dr. Taylor, late president of the First Independent congregation of Washington city, has consented to undertake this work and is seconded by a large number of our citizens. The initial service will be conducted next Sunday at 2:15 P. M. in Good Templars' hall, on Third and Alder streets, near Masonic temple.

100 CASES NEW GOODS!

These goods (many of them suitable for fall and winter wear) were purchased as clearances in the New York market by Mr. Meier at far less than cost of production or importation. With the balance of our mammoth stock we are crowded in every department. Instead of holding over for the fall season for larger profits, we prefer to hold to the policy heretofore followed by us—when we get great inducements as clearances we are prompt to offer them to the trade for quick disposal.

Every article and every line in each department REDUCED WAY DOWN—in many lots at less than cost of production. We cannot enumerate all the Special Bargains we are now offering—during this sale only.

THE NEW YORK HOP CROP.

NEW YORK, July 15.—World's Utica special: The Press to-day publishes reports from various sections of the hop producing regions of Central New York, and says: "Reports all agree that lice and honey dew have committed irreparable damage to vines. Waterville, which is known as the Kent of America, will yield less than half a crop of last year. Some growers have their last year's crop still on hand, and taking into consideration the poor outlook for this year they will hold for higher prices. A grower of Brookfield, Madison county, who had seventy acres of hops, has had them entirely destroyed by lice. A general opinion prevails that hops of 1885 will sell from 30 to 40 cents during the next few weeks. Growers are in great despair, as many have the largest part of their farms under hop culture."

GEN. BUTLER.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Gen. Butler's political friends here scout the idea that he intends to run for congress this fall in the Lowell, Mass., district. They say he prefers to represent a New York city district, and if the workingmen will place him in the field, Butler himself has no doubt of his election. He has lately been engaged in some correspondence with Knights of Labor looking in that direction, which will probably be given to the public before long. On Butler's part it is substantially a bid for the workingmen's votes. An active member of the Central labor union said yesterday: "Butler will be of more use to us in New York than he would be in congress. If the old man would consent to stand as mayor even Tammany would endorse him."

TO PROVIDE FOR RECOINAGE.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Senator Chase to-day submitted a proposed amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill, authorizing the secretary of the treasury to transfer to the United States mint at Philadelphia for clearing and reissue any uncurrent coins now or which may be hereafter received at sub-treasury offices, in excess of the requirement for the current business of such office. Five thousand dollars is appropriated for the expenses of the transfer and reissue. It also authorizes the secretary of the treasury to recoin all uncurrent minor coins now in the treasury, and $40,000 is appropriated to reimburse the treasury for loss in such coinage.

A STRIKE THREATENED.

DENVER, July 15.—Several days ago the Denver typographical union raised the scale of composition from 45 to 50 cents. The publishers protested and asked for a corresponding reduction in the scale paid journeymen in job rooms. The union declined to accede, and to-day the publishers asked that a committee of arbitration be appointed to settle the matter, as done in Washington, Chicago and Milwaukee. The union refused to settle by arbitration, and the publishers also refuse to pay the advance, but have not yet decided on what action they will take.

SPORTING NOTES.

STEAM YACHT RACES.

LARCHMONT, N. Y., July 15.—This was the starting point of the steam yacht races. At 10:50 the signal was given for the second-class boats to start. The line was crossed in the following order: E. M. Fields's Ianda, 10:55; M. E. Bateman's Meteor, 10:55; Bostwick's Orienta, 10:57; Herreschoff's launch Henrietta, 10:58, and the flagship Lagonda, 10:59. The Henrietta at once began to forge ahead, and when last seen was leading the second-class fleet.

At noon Jay Gould's Atalanta and W. E. Conner's Yosemite, the only boats in the first class, got under way. The Atalanta crossed the line at 12:01, and the Yosemite at 12:01:30. The Atalanta allows the Yosemite 26 minutes, and from the first undertook to gain enough lead to make up for that time. She, when last seen, was drawing away from the Yosemite.

NEW LONDON, July 15.—The finishing point of the steam yacht race was at Pequot pier. Thousands of town people and summer visitors watched the arrivals from the shore and decks of yachts at anchor in the vicinity. The arriving time was as follows: First class—Atalanta, 4:31:57; Yosemite, 5:36:36. Second class—Meteor, 5:36:42; Logonda, 5:51:39; Ianda, 6:20:36; Henrietta, 5:22:14. Third class—Nereid, 6:51:30; Edith, 6:01:39; Viola, 8:11:05.

A MATTER OF COMPETITION.

CORVALLIS, July 14, 1886.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I have never happened to notice among your correspondence from the great army of "kickers" any special complaint from Portland merchants or other interested people upon a most important matter that is the biggest question of to-day for their consideration.

The Oregon Pacific railway, which connects the upper half of the Willamette valley with the ocean, runs west from this point to Yaquina bay, a distance of seventy-five miles, only twenty miles less than the distance from Corvallis to Portland via west side railroad. The Oregon Pacific climbs a big grade over the Coast range, has no towns on its route to furnish it as much business as the west side has between Hillsboro and Portland, and one would suppose that with no way business its small through traffic must pay big rates or bankrupt its owners. In a word, the haul hence to Yaquina bay must cost as much money as that from Portland to this point.

There are no competitors at Yaquina bay for Portland's business here and southward, so we might naturally rest easy and say there can be no competition to injure us; but here is the thorn in the flesh. In spite of the advantages of the westside by its great way business, it costs more money to lay down a car load of goods, or a case, from Portland than from San Francisco, which is 400 miles south of Yaquina bay. The rate per ton upon a very large line of merchandise is $1 less by the O. P. from San Francisco than the westside charge from Portland. So the kind railroad and steamship company doing business via Yaquina bring the goods five times as far, handle them twice as often, and lay them down not only at Corvallis, but at every point accessible by river to south or northward, even as far as Salem, with less freight charges than our westside railroad levies.

Does this amount to nothing? There is not a heavy line of merchandise in Portland that is not suffering immensely by this condition of things. We have lost the very best part of the valley trade already by the stupidity of the west side people. We might suppose that the old line would at least fight for the points accessible by the O. P. railroad and steamer which runs daily to river points above and below, reaching Salem, Independence, Al[illegible], Buena Vista, Corvallis, Harrisburg, and in [illegible] stages of water Eugene City, but the west side has permitted this state of things to grow up under the greatest difficulties for their op[illegible] for five years, with these results perfectly evident.

Portland can sell goods as low as San Francisco; [illegible] and convenient market offers great advantages to nearly all the dealers of this region (as well as the Columbia basin), and the tributary [illegible] and cities would pocket their animosity and [illegible] if the material advantage was not dead against us. Freight charges to each of the cities I have named should be reduced at least one-half. These competitive points are quite independent of [illegible] to-day, if they choose to be so, and they would show poor judgment in paying 10 to 40 per [illegible] more to the O. & C. system when the O. P. serves their purpose quite as well. With one exception the freight for the towns I have named is hauled six times by the O. P., and but twice by [illegible] west side, and brought by ocean, rail and river [illegible] five to ten times the distance between those [illegible] and Portland, and even then at a very much lower cost.

Perhaps the Oregon & California people have never discovered that their trains must run to Creswell, Turner, Marion, etc., on the east side, and to Wells, McCoy and other small remote points on the west side, whether they carry freight for the big towns or not.

I think if the wagon was mine, and I had to make the trip, I would take the freight for the big towns at half price or nothing, rather than act the [illegible] of a blind bat and permit a struggling competitor to haul in his wheelbarrow a dozen times the distance at a less price.

But then it is their funeral—and may be ours too.

The Grand Lodge degree was then duly conferred upon forty-three grand representatives by the grand master, after which the grand lodge took a recess until 1:30 P. M.

The hour of 1:30 arriving, the grand lodge was called to order by the grand master workman, all the officers being present, and the roll of representatives was called, and, a quorum being present, the grand lodge proceeded with its regular business.

The journal of the proceedings of the last grand lodge was, on motion, adopted. The report of the grand master was then presented and read before the lodge, which was full of valuable information for the benefit of the order at large. The reports of all the other officers of the lodge were, on motion, referred to a committee on distribution.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The grand lodge A. O. U. W. met at the usual hour this yesterday and with the exception of passing upon committee reports, nothing was done but the election of three grand officers, namely: J. F. Brown, grand master; C. T. Russell, grand foreman; J. T. McIlmoyl, grand overseer.

A Journal of the Northland.

New York Tribune.

Mr L. Moller is an Esquimau poet and printer, and the editor of an illustrated Esquimau paper called the Atuagagliutit, published at Godthaab, a Danish colony on the west coast of Greenland, 64 degrees north latitude. Mr. Moller has no reptile contemporary to pulverize, and about the only fun he has is to write poetry and eat tallow candles.

COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, July 15.

Overland receipts include 3 cars farm wagons, car spring do, car implements, 1 bbl candy, 51 cs mineral water, 50 bdls felloes, 50 bdls rattan chairs, 22 bls b c bagging, 2 cbs vinegar.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 2181 bbls flour, 400 ctls millstuff, 23 sks potatoes, 3285 lbs wool, 150 lbs hides, 3530 lbs hops, 114 cs eggs, 78 bxs fruit, 10 cs butter, 210 sheep, 170 cattle. Also 4776 ctls wheat, 200 bbls flour, 350 ctls barley, 150,242 lbs wool, 115 lbs hides, 9 bxs fruit, 21 cattle from the eastern section.

EXPORTS—To San Francisco, per str Columbia: 1300 ctls wheat, 483 ctls oats, 1550 sks bran, 2300 sks middlings, 8 bxs cherries, 4 sks mohair, 108 tons No. 3 pig iron, 111 pkgs hollow ware, 545 sks (172,557 lbs) wool, 3 bls deer skins, 30 dry 454 green hides, 1 bl furs, 6 bls kip and calf, 73 bls calf skins, 1 bl pelts, 1000 bdls lath, 24 sks 6 bls gluestock, 5 cs cassimeres, 4 cs flannels, 34 tins tallow, 23 bls (4083 lbs) hops, 65 bars iron, 254 pkgs staves, 10 pkgs heads, 211 cls rope, 176½ tons old railway iron, $25,335 treasure.

FREIGHTS—The week has witnessed but a fair tonnage movement. Arrivals were the Vallejo under prior charter, and Beechholm and Shakespeare, open. The Helenslea passed out with a cargo of flour and salmon, the Jane Porter, Candidate and Cynosure sailing with wheat. On spot the Ladstock secured business, presumably at something less than the figure quoted last week. The market has ruled quiet because of weakness reported from San Francisco and lack of any request here for tonnage.

REGISTERED TONNAGE STATEMENT.

In port—Finished with grain	977
Loading or to load	9,183
Iron disengaged	2,701
Wood disengaged	2,287
Miscellaneous	1,552	16,745
On way—Due July-August	15,631
Due August-Sept	16,249
Due later on	7,261	39,143

WHEAT—Receipts for the week were very light, being only 113 tons valley and 699 tons Walla Walla, a total of 812 tons, against 1388 tons the same week last year and 2221 tons the preceding week this year. For the rest of the month and into August light arrivals will doubtless be the rule, as farmers are busy with securing the new crop, and dealers busy with work incident to the close of a season. Our market during the week has shown nothing whatever of new interest. Valley is quoted $1 12½@1 15 and Walla Walla about $1 07½, with no business of moment reported. The foreign market is cabled as quiet but steady from day to day. In the past week British imports increased slightly, while the quantity afloat is reduced 215,000 quarters. English weather has not been favorable to an early harvest but not such as to interfere with crop outturns. Trade on the other side has wholly removed any disposition there might have been to speculate on the chances of an improvement in prices before harvest. The English harvest is considered two weeks late and on this rests some little hope that values will be disturbed. In previous years a late harvest has been known to advance values although supplies of old in sight were large enough for all purposes. French crops are also backward but France is not buying foreign wheat to the extent expected. Stocks at French ports May 31 of wheat and flour, were 155,000 qrs against 42,000 qrs the same time last year, but this is not accepted as indicative of actual supplies for stocks in farmers' hands are known to be quite low. In eight weeks ended about the middle of June India had exported 11,400,000 bushels, or more than one-fourth her whole export last season. Chicago and New York have receded slightly during the week, yet have shown very narrow fluctuations. San Francisco spot closes where it did last week, but futures are rather higher.

FLOUR—Receipts for the week were 2298 bbls valley and 1550 bbls Walla Walla. By the Helenslea, for Liverpool, was shipped 12,328 bbls Walla Walla. For standards there is the usual request and no change in the situation, $3 65@3 80 being quoted for car lots or less.

MILLSTUFFS—Fair supplies and market quiet. Jobbing values are: Bran, $12@13; shorts, $14@15; middlings, $20@22. Ground barley sells out at $26, and oil meal $32 50.

HAY.—Old is still quoted $7 50@8 50 for the best and supplies are full. Very little new offered as yet.

EGGS.—After touching 25c, and remaining there for several days the market is now taking a back track, and is weak at 22@22½c. Lower prices may be looked for during the coming week, as demands do not keep pace with arrivals.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Governments were quiet and steady in earlier dealings. In stocks there was good buying of Erie, on a reported increase of $300,000 in the net earnings for June. Later in the day news was received that a meeting of Granger presidents in Chicago had appointed a committee to formulate plans for making temporary pools, and peace in that region was regarded as almost certain, and in the last hour prices moved up sharply again, and closed at the best of the day. Everything on the active list is higher to-night, the advance ranging from small fractions to 2⅝ per cent., the latter in Erie preferred.

The Mail and Express says: Mining stocks were fairly active. Sales: Hale & Norcross $2 60, Moulton $1 35, California & Virginia $1 45, Navajo $1 05, Bodie $1 00, Mono 2, Oriental and Miller 5c, Rappahannock 13, Robinson 68, Argenta 10, Little Chief 24.

Delays are Dangerous

The time to take a medicine is when nature gives her first warning. That tired feeling is often the forerunner of serious disease, which may be warded off if you attend to yourself in time. Don't wait till your system is all run down and you are obliged to stop work, but take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will purify, vitalize and enrich your blood, create an appetite and tone the digestive organs, cure headache, biliousness and dyspepsia, rouse and regulate the liver and kidneys, and give strength to the whole body.

"Having been afflicted with a complication of disorders, the result of impure blood, I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the result was perfectly satisfactory."—MRS. J. BARTON, New Haven, Ct.
